Address all communications to THE EVENING TELEGRAM, Greensboro, N. C.

TUESDAY, DEC. 28, 1897.

You can get the telegraphic news twelve hours earlier in THE TELEGRAM than in any paper that gets into Greensboro, and for four dollars a year less.

The fact that a train yesterday ran over a carriage containing a newly married couple clinches the assertion that love is blind.

Those who recall the potency of Mr. Hanna's political silence will see something ominous for the alleged combine against him in his present reticence.

While all the holding up is going on in Chicago the only highwayman who has been able to make Phil Armour come down with the dough is Mr. Leiter.

The attempt of the Prince of Monaco to gouge the Monte Carlo company has cast some doubt upon the old saying, "there is honor even among thieves."

A New Jersey carpenter who died one day last week was worth a million dollars. This should tend to alleviate the load of exclusive opprobrium that weighs upon the plumber.

If the presidency of the inter-state commerce commission is going a-begging, North Carolina has a brace of gentlemen experienced in the commission business who are at present in the hands of their friends.

The question has been raised as to whether a typewriter may be fitly used in writing a love letter. The most potent argument in favor of the older method is the immense advantage of an obscure chirography when the season is ripe for breach of promise suits.

A gentleman who keeps well up in all matters pertaining to the business interests of the town is responsible for the statement that inquiries are frequently received from parties outside of Greensboro with reference to the renting of houses here. To most of these inquiries the reply must be given that suitable houses can not be had. This is crippling the growth of the town. Business men who would come here and establish enterprises experimentally will not incur the additional expense of buying real estate and building. This comes only after the permanence of the enterprise is assured by a reasonable degree of success. If Greensboro had more houses she could have more citizens.

Those interested in the study of international affairs will keep an eye on the imbroglio in the Orient. It is at present giving rise to more diplomatic complications than any question of the present decade. While it does not appear upon the surface too openly it is a fact that Germany, Russia and England are each couched for a spring. Russia has the appetite of her polar bear, England is the robber of the ages and Germany aspires to be the power of last resort. If it be true that Japan is backing England, as stated in our dispatches of yesterday, England will most likely have her way. She is still the one sea power and when she shows her hand it will be to some purpose.

The Salvation Army of San Francisco, after considerable experience with ex-convicts, has suffered a marked decline in its faith in moral suasion.

A great deal is being said, most of it by those papers themselves, about the enterprise of the New York Journal and the World. They are constantly establishing funds for the poor, rescuing forlorn damsels and puffing themselves illimitably therefor. That is one kind of journalism. The New York Sun recently took up the pension scandal which everybody believed existed, but which nobody had proved to exist, and in nine closely printed columns made such an exposure of it that the country has rung from one end to the other with protest. It was strong, clean cut, irrefragable proof. It poured a flood of light upon a matter that touches the financial interests of every citizen and the honor of every Union veteran. It means, or should mean, a saving of millions of dollars to the country and the removal of a national disgrace. The enterprise of the World and the Journal means merely dollars for Mr. Hearst and Mr. Pulitzer.

Otho for Congress.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer writes:

It is whispered among the populists that Otho Wilson calculates on the populists' nomination for Congress in this district. An interesting question is what will be the attitude of the republicans towards him in such a contingency? Of course he now trains with the anti-Butler wing of the populists. The republicans who will do any talking say they are pretty sick of populist Congressmen, and that they elected five of them last year.

Pritchard a Candidate.

A Washington special to the Charlotte Observer says:

Senator Pritchard made a frank avowal today of his candidacy for the western district judgeship. The President is advised of his wishes in the matter, and the Senator says he is in his hands. The President may deem it unwise to trust the appointment of his successor to Governor Russell, with the apparent certainty of a democratic legislature next year, and in that event the appointment lies between Assistant Attorney General Boyd, Capt. Chas. Price and Mr. Geo. H. Smathers.

William H. Griffith was arrested in Denver yesterday on the charge of swindling Richard J. Bolles, of New York, out of $14,016 in 1892.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with la grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into hasty consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at C. E. Holton's drug store.

LADIES.—Do you remember the long cloaks that were worn so much two years ago? For actual comfort and warmth they are a great deal better than the short capes and jackets that are all the go now. We have exactly twenty of these long cloaks on hand and want to almost give them away. Five of them sold at $12.50, seven sold for $10.00, two for $9.00, four for $8.00 and two for $6.00 each. Most of them are made of heavy imported Beaver Cloth, the kind that you can keep dry and warm in outdoors all day long in the severest weather. We want to close these cloaks out and you can have choice of the lot for TWO DOLLARS. There is more than two dollars' worth of material in any one of them, and it would pay to cut them up into children's garments at this price. Come soon and get first choice.

Why Not Push it?

How about that scheme to establish a telephone line between High Point and Greensboro?

Has it fell through? We hope not. There is a rumor to the effect that Asheville will soon be in speaking distance of us and by the last of this week there will be telephone communication between this place and Danville.

Why not hook up with High Point also? Thinking business men have figured it out and given it as their opinion that the line would pay. Why not push it?

Will Meet Tonight.

The following superintendents of the public schools of their respective cities have arrived to attend the annual meeting of the city superintendents of North Carolina, which will be called to order at 7:30 tonight at Lindsey street school building by Prof. D. Matt Thompson, of Statesville, the president; Prof. Graham, of Charlotte; Prof. Blair of Winston; Prof. Crowell, of High Point; Prof. Lewis, of Concord; Prof. Sharpe, of Goldsboro; Prof. Mangum, of Wilson; and Prof. Thompson, of Statesville. "Lost-A Bride" This Evening.

The tension, which had taken hold on the nerves of officials at police headquarters for the past several days, has been relieved by the receipt of private information that the mystery surrounding circulars headed, "Lost-A Bride," will be cleared up at the public hearing of the case at the Academy of Music this evening.

It is understood that a good many of our most prominent citizens and their wives and families will be present, and the promise is held out that the denouement will prove a strong tonic in the way of a laugh-producer.

A RARA AVIS.

Curious Crowds Peering in at Lindau's Window.

Lindau has a curiosity on exhibition in one of his show windows. It is an aquatic bird of some kind, but thus far no one has been able to tell just what. The bird has been provided with a bathtub filled with water, and it paddles around contentedly, entirely oblivious of the crowd of curious observers which may be found at the window any time of day. The bird was caught at the pond near the finishing mill.

Since Lindau gave a box of Huyler's to the one who named Garland Daniel's deer, it would only be reciprocity for Daniel to give a bicycle lamp to the one who will name Lindau's bird. Mr. Daniel has the floor.

Will Serve at the Carnival.

The following young ladies have obligingly agreed to serve at the refreshment tables during the Carnival Wednesday and Thursday evenings, and Mrs. Whitsett especially requests them to meet her in the Academy of Music Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Peripatetic Club Meeting.

Communicated. In spite of the inclement weather Christmas night, the Peripatetic Club had one of the most enjoyable gatherings since its organization.

It met at the hospitable home of Mrs. Murray. The parlors, decorated with holly and mistletoe, the bright dresses and merry faces of the guests, made a pleasant contrast to the dreary night without.

The feature of the evening was a collection of photos of the guests taken before the age of ten. There was much fun made in each trying to guess to whom these belonged. The hostess then led the way to the dining room where all were refreshed with an elegant spread.

May the Peripatetic have many more such pleasant evenings.

Accidentally Shot.

An Asheville special to the Charlotte Observer says: Saturday Buford Early, living near Fairview, this county, went out of his house to shoot a guinea. As he fired, the 15-year-old son of James McAbee, a neighbor, got in range of the shot, and the contents of Early's gun struck him in the back, making a wound from which the boy died yesterday. The shooting was purely accidental.
